

CMLACMU Purpose Statement:

The Collegiate Middle Level Association at Central Michigan University is open to all students interested in preparing to teach at the middle level. Its purpose is to provide information, support, and fellowship to persons interested in the education of young adolescents. Activities to help members grow as professional middle level educators include guest speakers, panel discussions, workshops, and the opportunity to attend state and national middle level conferences, newsletters, as well as social events. The organization is affiliated with the Collegiate Middle Level Association (CMLA), an affiliate organization of the National Middle School Association (NMSA), which offers additional benefits of newsletters, journals, and networking with other collegiate middle level educators.
